LEGO Mailbag

Who invented LEGO bricks? Who was the first person to make one, and when? G. Smith, age 10 of California

The LEGO Company got its start in the small town of Billund, Denmark, by a master carpenter named Ole Kirk Christiansen. Originally, the company made high quality wooden toys. The ancestor of the brick you know was pioneered in 1949 by Ole's son, Godtfred Kirk Christiansen. But the first true LEGO bricks – the kind you build with today – were marketed in 1958!

Are the buildings in LEGOLAND® made out of LEGO bricks, and what happens when it rains in LEGOLAND?
David Jackson, age 9 of Maine

Yes, David, the Miniland buildings at LEGOLAND are made out of real LEGO bricks – sometimes thousands of them! Because the model builders have to work so hard to create these models, a great deal of care goes into preserving them. After they are glued together, they are sprayed with a special solution that helps to protect them from the sun, rain, and other elements. The models are also cleaned regularly and repaired whenever that's needed. We have to glue our models together, because they need to stand up to wind and weather. But you probably don't want to try gluing your models – after all, if you glue them you can never take them apart and build something else!

How do you get to the LEGO web site? How do you join the LEGO Club online?
Zachary Davis, age 10 of Wisconsin

You can get to our official online LEGO site by going to <http://www.lego.com> – that's the headquarters for the LEGO Club online! You'll see on the homepage a section that says "LEGO Club" and asks for your login and password. Right below that, it says, "Not a member yet? Click here." Click your mouse there and it will take you to a place where you can sign up for the online LEGO Club – it's fun and it's free! You can make your own LEGO homepage, post models to the galleries, and play great games – and later this year, there will be even more exciting benefits for online Club members! So sign up today!

Why don't LEGO people have noses or ears?

Super Soccer Action at the World Cup!

Ben Radford

Above: Michael Owen is watched by Germany's Jorg Bohme. Good luck to all the teams!

The top soccer teams from around the world are heading to Japan and South Korea for the 2002 World Cup finals. Each of the 32 teams has battled through the qualifying round for the honor of a place in the tournament, and the chance to test themselves against the world's best.

The World Cup competition is held every four years, with a different country hosting each time. Germany, France, England and the United States are just a few of the teams that will be competing this year. The finals begin May 31 and end with a championship game June 30 in Yokohama, Japan.

Look where you're going! Keep your head up until you're ready to make a pass, so you can see where your teammates are and watch for defenders.

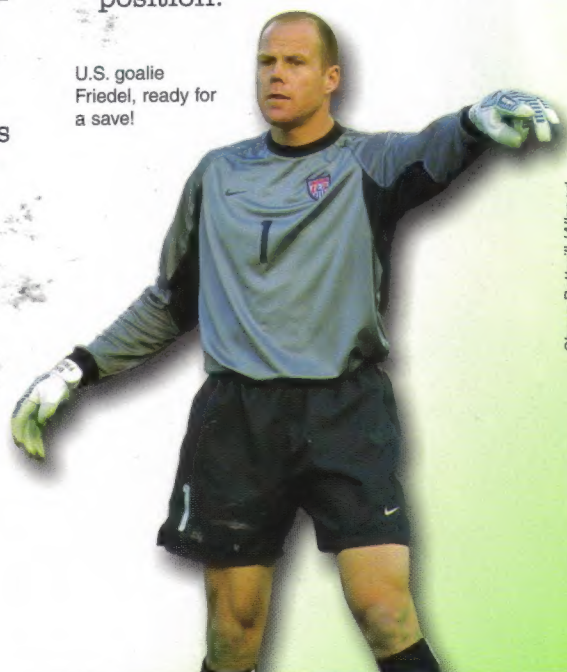

Pick Your Spot!

Here's a tip to help you pass any passing exam - make sure you kick the ball on the right spot! Kick too high and you'll "top" the ball, kick too low and you'll undercut it. Aim for a spot right in the center of the ball to make your pass fly straight and true.

Ready, Set... Save!

Making a save in the goal starts before the ball is even kicked. It's important that the goalkeeper stay in the ready position - feet shoulder width apart, knees slightly bent, and hands up ready to catch. Check out a baseball second baseman for a good example of the ready position.

U.S. goalie Friedel, ready for a save!

How do you get to the World Cup finals? Practice!

Whether you want to play in the World Cup tournament someday, or just play better soccer against your friends, here are some tips that might help:

He Shoots, He Scores!

How can you score the winning goal, and avoid the "agony of da feet?" Remember to curl your toes when you shoot! Kicking the ball with your toes is not only less accurate, but it hurts too. As you go to shoot, curl your toes and try to kick the ball with top part of your foot, where your shoelaces are.

Heads Up!

One of your teammates just made a great pass to you, and now you're ready to dribble down the field. What's the most important thing to remember?

Shaun Botterill / Allsport

It took some inspired play by the Germans against the Ukraine team for them to make it into the World Cup finals. Keep an eye on Michael Ballack and Mehmet Scholl, along with goalkeeper Oliver Kahn.

Ben Radford / Allsport

Led by captain David Beckham, England will face some tough opponents in the first round (Argentina, Sweden, and 1996 Olympic gold medal winner Nigeria). Their biggest concerns are their defense and keeping star players Michael Owen and Steven Gerrard healthy.

Claudio Reyna, Earnie Stewart and Chris Armas will try to beat the odds and lead the U.S. to its first World Cup!

Shaun Botterill / Allsport

World Cup champions in 1998, and once again the favorite to win it all. Defensive midfielder Patrick Vieira sets the pace for the team, which is strong in virtually every category. Definitely a team to watch in 2002! Here's their team photo!

QUESTION: What's happening in the Final Duel scenes on this page? Was Luke captured? What happened when Luke faced Darth Vader and the Emperor for the final time?

ANSWER: Stopped his training to save his friends he did. Surrendered to the Empire as a trick to find Vader and the Emperor. Strong were they, but Luke's ally was the Force - and a powerful ally it is. A Jedi's strength flows from the Force. Showed Vader how to turn away from the dark side Luke did. Together they defeated the Emperor... father and son were they at last.

QUESTION: I think the twin-pod Cloud Car in the picture is really cool. Where would I find people flying in those?

ANSWER: People travel in cloud cars high above the surface of planet Bespin - fine ships and small they are. But size is not important. Look at me. Judge me by my size, do you? Cloud-covered gas giant Bespin is, home to Cloud City. Mining of Tibanna gas they do there. Cloud cars best way they are of traveling place to place.

CALIFORNIA

Swarms of Bohrok have appeared in the LEGO® Maniac Clubhouse, and BIONICLE™ fans are getting the chance to learn more about these mysterious creatures!

Park officials aren't sure just how the Bohrok made the trip from Mata Nui to California, but so far the swarms seem willing to let LEGOLAND stay intact. While they are there, kids have the chance to discover their secrets and see all their powerful krana. The Toa are there, too, making sure the swarms stay under control!

LEGOLAND was the place to be for BIONICLE fun in 2001, with the BIONICLE Tribal Quest and show, giant Toa model, and more! This year will bring even more excitement with an upgraded Clubhouse featuring 10 video monitors airing the story of the Bohrok.

The Power of Glinching!

When Nick Bluetooth comes to the Outer Dimension, he discovers he has a strange new power – the ability to transform his limbs into other shapes! Nick can alter his legs to look like those of his friend Euripides, change his arm into a robotic extender just like Jens', and much more. He uses this power to save his friends from the forces of Gorm, even though he isn't quite sure just how he is able to do it.

Nick actually has a more powerful version of "glinching," an ability shared by all residents of the Outer Dimension. Denizens of the realms are able to swap arms and legs with each other as needed to help them accomplish tasks, solve problems, or just for a change! Nick doesn't need to exchange with anyone to achieve this, though – his special power makes him able to change his shape temporarily and then revert to his natural human form.
